

MILITIA IN CAMP JULY 22 TO 28

Encampment Dates May Re- main As Announced—Co. L Needs a New Range

As near as can be announced the Second Regiment of which Co. L of this city is a member, will be at Camp Douglas this year for the annual encampment from July 22 to 28 inclusive. These dates will be changed providing they are found to conflict with the plans of the war department.

The announcement sent out by the adjutant general of the state to Captain Walker of this city gives the following encampment dates:

Third Infantry and Tenth separate battalion, July 8 to 14; First Infantry and Troop A, July 15 to 21; Second Infantry, July 22 to 28. August 7 to 12 are the dates of the rifle camp.

Captain Walker expects to go into camp this year with 76 men. New recruits to the number of 10 have joined the company within the last three months. A number of applications for membership have been received, but Captain Walker does not encourage a further increase for the reason that the company comprises now more men than the maximum number for which credit can be given. The limit for each company is 65 men and three officers.

New Range Needed.

The problem which perplexes Captain Walker just at this time is that of a suitable location for a new rifle range. A range between 500 and 600 yards in length is needed at once. The old range near the "Hog's Back" is inadequate for target work as the men can only shoot up to 500 yards and but two targets can be used there. Also the range is close to farm dwellings and the danger from flying bullets is to be considered.

BASE BALL RETURNS

A. B. Seibel Arranges For Prompt Reports of The Big Games

A. B. Seibel, proprietor of the Oneida, has arranged with the Western Union Telegraph company to receive the scores by innings of the games of the American and National leagues and American association at his place of business throughout the summer. As soon as the returns arrive they will be chalked down on a black board where they can be easily seen. Mr. Seibel is a warm admirer of the national pastime and it was with the desire to please his brother fans that he negotiated to favor them with prompt and reliable reports of all games.

HELP OUT THE REPORTER

An exchange truthfully says that there was never a paper in any locality that gave all the news. Persons often come and go that the reporter does not see. It often happens that a family is missed several times. They get the impression that the paper does not care to mention them. It is a mistake. The paper has no ill feeling, nor spite nor enmity against anybody. Do not be afraid to give us items of interest. Perhaps you think that the paper shows partiality, but try and see if it doesn't treat you well if given a chance. If you don't see us tell us of any happening or news item at your home, use the telephone or drop it in the postoffice; but don't fail to give your name so we will know there is no mistake about it.

NORTH STARS MEET

The Norwegian Young People's Society North Star met Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Esther Olson, Mason street. There were about twenty present. It was a farewell party in honor of Miss Gudrun Myrseth, who left for Oshkosh the same evening. Those present at the meeting enjoyed a pleasant evening. Refreshments were served and games played until a late hour.

BUY SEEDS AT HOME

Local Grain Dealer Takes The Farmers To Task

Some of the farmers of this vicinity complain each fall that they are unable to dispose of their grains to Rhinelander dealers.

I would like to ask them how they can hope to be patronized by the local dealers when they send to the mail order houses for their seeds?

There are a large number of farmers in this county who never think of buying seeds here, but prefer to send their orders to Chicago. It seems they would rather pay the same prices to these outside firms for an inferior grade of seeds than trade with the home man. The local dealer will also extend them credit while the Chicago house demands cash with the order. If the seeds prove to be poor the farmer stands the loss. He is given no guarantee like that from the home dealer. The seeds sold by the Rhinelander merchant are laboratory tested and never fail to give satisfactory results.

Think all this over my farmer friends and when you plant seeds from the mail order concern don't put on a long face and grumble when the Rhinelander dealer refuses to buy your product next fall. You can't expect him to patronize you after you have failed to trade with him.

A Rhinelander Grain Dealer.

ROB SUGAR CAMP STORE LAST MARCH

Youthful Dynamiters Admit Breaking Into Knapp & Jones' Building.

Walter Grossman and John Holowinski, the Sugar Camp lads who confessed Saturday to blowing up Tripp's store, made a second statement to Sheriff Crofoot at the county jail Monday in which they assumed the responsibility for the robbery at Knapp & Jones' store, Sugar Camp, last March 17.

Believing that his prisoners had a guilty knowledge of this crime Sheriff Crofoot succeeded through resorting to strategy in getting them to confess. Not only did they tell of committing the robbery but informed the sheriff where they had hidden their plunder.

Sheriff Crofoot and Under-Sheriff Asmundsen drove to Sugar Camp Tuesday and found the missing goods at Holowinski's house as the boys had said. The articles consisted of rifles, shells, knives and gloves and these were turned over by the officers to Knapp & Jones.

Grossman and Holowinski display all the ear marks of born criminals and it appears have little conception of right and wrong.

RAIN RELIEVES DROUGHT

Shower Tuesday Night Checks
Bad Brush Fires

The dry condition of the surrounding country was relieved Tuesday night by a generous rain which had long been needed. The farmer now wears a smile and feels that his crops will commence to grow.

For two weeks previous to Tuesday's shower the drought had become a grave matter. Brush fires in the nearby woods were causing alarm among the settlers. The fires spread rapidly and destruction of property was feared. In some instances losses were sustained although not of a serious nature.

In the extreme northern part of the state forest fires raged fiercely, leaving ruin in their path.

Miss Lloyd of Minocqua was the guest of Mrs. Margaret Weisen, Friday.

The National Hymn of Norway

To Be Sung at 17 of May Celebration at Armory Next Wednesday Evening.

Yes, we dearly love this country
With its rugged domes,
Rising furrowed o'er the ocean
With its thousand homes,
Let us all in fond remembrance
Land and people hold,
And our saga night descending
With its dream of old.

This, our land, King Harold rescued
With his heroes strong.
And while Haakon bravely guarded
Eyvind gave his song.
On this land the cross was painted
With St. Olaf's blood.
Sveerre boldly, Romeward speaking
Made defiance good.

Peasants stood with axes sharpened
Where an army came,
Tordenskjold, with wondrous valor,
Justified his name.
Even women rose to struggle
In a manly way.
Others had but tears to offer
But they saved the day.

We were never very many,
But it did suffice,
And we proved our mettle when they
Tried us once or twice.
Sooner did we burn the country
Than to see it fall.
Just remember the occurrence
Down at Fredrikshald.

When in misery our country
Was at last forlorn.
In our direst need blue-eyed
Liberty was born.
Then with manly courage bore we
Want and war with ease.
Death, itself, was crowned with glory
And it gave us peace.

Down our foeman threw his weapon,
Up the visor went.
Wond'ring, unto him we hastened,
Found in him our friend.
Driven by our shame, to southward
Soon our way we found
Now three brothers, one in friendship,
We are firmly bound.

Norseman, if in house or cottage,
Thank thy living God
That our land so well he shielded
With his mighty rod.
For our father's sacrifices
And our mother's tears
Did the Lord in mercy grant us
Freedom's happy years.

Yes, we dearly love this country
With its rugged domes,
Rising furrowed from the ocean
With a thousand homes,
As our fathers fought for freedom
Unto victory,
We will give our lives when needed,
Native land for thee.

RECOVER BODY OF DROWNED DRIVER

Robt. Hansdure's Corpse Taken
From Pelican River—Accident April 17.

The body of Robert Hansdure, the young man who lost his life while driving logs on the Pelican river, Monday, April 20, was recovered at 5:50 o'clock Monday afternoon, three weeks after the accident. The corpse was discovered by Chester Bentley, a member of the Mylrea driving crew, in the same location in the stream where Hansdure's pole was found when search was first made for his body. In falling into the river the man was caught under a dead head log and it was this obstruction which prevented the body from being found earlier.

Bentley's pole accidentally came in contact with the log, causing it to loosen and allowing the corpse to come to the water's surface. The remains were in a revolting condition of decomposition. The features could not be recognized.

Nothing can be ascertained by the authorities concerning Hansdure's relatives. Burial was made in Forest Home cemetery, Tuesday, afternoon.

IN JUDGE WALKER'S COURT

Boy Is Arraigned For Threatening His Mother

For being drunk and disorderly Frank Linn was fined $5 and costs in municipal court, Friday. Upon Linn's promise to leave town at once, sentence was suspended.

Harry Knapp, 13 years of age, was arraigned before Judge Walker, Monday, charged with threatening to kill his mother, Mrs. H. E. Knapp. It was alleged that the boy had guns in his possession and brandished the weapons in dangerous style before his parent. The sheriff took three loaded revolvers from the youngster. The young defendant did not deny his guilt but upon his promise to behave in the future sentence was suspended.

ATTENTION, WOODMEN!

You are requested to meet at the lodge rooms at 8:30 next Sunday morning to attend services in a body at the M. E. Church.

A. W. BYRNS, Clerk.

THE JUNIOR PROM

High School Party Proves A
Pleasant Occasion

The prom of the High School Juniors at the Armory last Friday evening was one of the most successful parties ever given in the city. It is estimated that one hundred couples enjoyed the dancing while a large crowd of spectators occupied the gallery.

The decorations were both elaborate and artistic. Seldom before has the big hall appeared so pretty. Pennants, streamers and palms were much in evidence and several cozy corners were also arranged. Punch was served throughout the evening.

The music by the Military orchestra was of excellent quality and elicited many pleasing compliments. Everyone in attendance at the prom reported a thoroughly good time and praised the Juniors for their entertainment.

1911 TEAM READY FOR THE SEASON

Permanent Line-Up Now Complete—Free Game With
Cubs Next Sunday

The organization of the Rhinelander base ball team is now complete and the following is the permanent line-up of the team as announced by Manager Chas. Belliel:

Pitchers—Joe Hutchinson, Geo. Deakin.
Catcher—Arthur Post.
First Base—Wm. Knippel.
Second Base—Richard Creamer.
Short Stop—John Weckler.
Third Base—Wm. Jastrum.
Right Field—Joe Pollier.
Center Field—John Sohr.
Left Field—Vincent Clifford.
Right Field—Walter Whitman.
W. Jastrum's famous Boston terrier, "Comet" has been honored by the team as mascot.

Geo. Roller has again been selected for umpire. He is thoroughly acquainted with all the minute points of the game and is just and reliable in his decisions.

Post and Knippel, two of the men engaged, have already arrived from LaCrosse and the remainder of the outside players are expected Friday and Saturday.

Manager Belliel does not hesitate in declaring that the team this year will be one of the fastest semi-pro clubs in the northwest. Up to date he has booked a number of games with state teams and some well known traveling clubs.

There is a possibility that Pitcher Frank Rooney may remain in Rhinelander this season, although he declines to make a statement regarding his intentions. Owing to the illness of his employer, Issie Cohen, Frank has so far been unable to go to Oshkosh.

The committee in charge of finances have collected better than $600 with excellent prospects of receiving the remaining $400. No one asked has refused to donate.

Free Game Sunday
At the fair grounds next Sunday afternoon, the Rhinelander semi-pros will play a practice game with the Cubs, the city's second team. This will be the fans' first opportunity to see the new team try-out. Admission will be free.

MASONS AT ANTIGO

The following Rhinelander Masons conferred the Royal Arch degree upon members of the Antigo lodge at that city Tuesday evening.

M. H. Raymond, B. R. Lewis, A. D. Sutton, Geo. Knister, C. E. Lovett, A. E. Weener, O. A. Kolden, Arthur Taylor, Alex. McRae, Chas. Stevens, H. C. Braeger and S. H. Gary.

The Rhinelander gentlemen were treated royally by their Antigo brothers. They were given an auto ride about the city and banqueted twice.

BOYS CONFESS TO BLOWING UP STORE

Grossman and Holowinski Tell of the Tripp Dynamiting to Officers

The mystery connected with the dynamiting of F. R. Tripp's store in the town of Sugar Camp on the night of Saturday, April 29, was cleared last Friday night when Walter Grossman, aged 17 years, and John Holowinski, aged 18 years, confessed to the crime to Sheriff Crofoot and Deputy Fire Warden Finnegan. Both boys are residents of Sugar Camp and were arrested there Friday by the above officers.

Sheriff Crofoot and Warden Finnegan spent all of Friday at Sugar Camp investigating the explosion and secured enough evidence against Grossman and Holowinski to warrant arresting them. Soon after being placed in custody the youthful prisoners broke down and admitted their guilt.

The lads stated that during the progress of a dance at Knapp and Jones' resort, Saturday night, April 29, they left the hall and walking to Tripp's store, three quarters of a mile, deposited a quantity of dynamite under the front of the building. The explosive was in a tightly tied gunny sack from the neck of which extended about one foot and a half of fuse. The remainder of the fuse consisting of about forty-five feet had been coiled within the sack. With Holowinski's lighted cigar Grossman touched off the fuse after which the two hurriedly returned to the dance. They estimated that they left the store at 11:30 o'clock and the explosion occurred at 12:05.

As soon as they heard the explosion Grossman and Holowinski ran to the scene and assisted Mr. Tripp in removing goods from the burning building. They even sympathized with Mr. and Mrs. Tripp in their misfortune. As the fire died out the lads departed for their homes but not before they had confiscated a quantity of tobacco and other merchandise from the stock saved. These goods were later recovered by the sheriff.

The prisoners admit to having stolen the dynamite from Tripp's powder house on the Thursday night previous to the explosion. They deny having set fire to the store.

Before Judge Walker Saturday the lads pleaded guilty to the charge of larceny and were bound over to circuit court.

A number of rumors regarding the case are in circulation and the opinion is expressed that further developments will reveal some startling facts. Other residents of the town of Sugar Camp may be involved and the Sheriff is conducting a quiet investigation.

NO RACE CIRCUIT

Tri-State Association Passes Out
Of Existence

Arthur Taylor, secretary of the Oneida County Agricultural Society, says:

"There does not appear to be any more Tri-State Fair and Racing Circuit. Notice was sent to secretaries of last year's circuit, giving time and place of meeting, but at the appointed time I was the only one present, so have taken no further action in the matter. Our dates are Sept. 19-21st, and if Ironwood and Ashland would take the dates in between, we should still have a sort of a circuit but I do not know if they will or not."

BROGAN'S NEW CONTRACT

John Brogan, the well known railway contractor, has been awarded the contract for the construction of the new Gogelle county trunk road to be built this season between Wakefield and Dunham. Mr. Brogan's bid, which covered the clearing of a 66 right-of-way for the entire distance between the two towns named, and the ditching and making of a 20 foot turnpike, footed up to $19,495. There were three other bidders, and his was the lowest. Hurley Miner.

In an impassioned speech before the county board, A. W. Brown recently said that newspapers could ruin Robert M. LaFollette. Can it be possible that this view accounts for Mr. Brown's assisting in the recent establishment of one in this city?

In spite of the statement of a local paper that Congressman Morse did not show his hand on the reciprocity bill, Mr. Morse's article in this paper shows his opposition to the measure. His secretary writes the New North: "In spite of the fact that sickness at home made it impossible for Mr. Morse to be away from Antigo at the time the reciprocity bill was passed he was paired against the bill."

THAT PRINTING CONTRACT

In the past the county has paid the full legal rate, 60 cents a folio for the publishing of the county board proceedings and an exceptional high price for the printing of the book of proceedings, the three newspapers here combining and dividing up the amount received with the Minocqua Times.

This action was not fair to the county, even though the statutes permit the charging of 60 cents a folio. The News refused to continue years experience, but was told that the method pursued under its former owner, Mr. Trumbull, and Tuesday, would be considered which did not in bid 28 cents a folio on the proceedings, but the News later added a bid of thirty for just half what The New North bid eight cents a page for the books, charged last year. The other publications bid also and The New North desired to hold on to the county.

The New North will furnish all the printing, bid 15 cents a folio, just type set from the proceedings as run one quarter what has hitherto been in the paper and give the News forty-charged the county, and 23 cents a page for printing the books, though a year ago, We make this as an open offer. The 50 cents a page was given by its publisher as the lowest price possible.

The printing committee reported the bids to the board and on Wednesday The New North was awarded the contract at 15 cents a folio, although an effort was made to force a combination bid by the Herald and the News for 30 cents a folio through the board. Fortunately the supervisors were awake and accepted the bid made for or by F. A. Lowell.

Through the determination of the Rhinelander News to break the newspaper combine, which has controlled the price of all printing for Oneida county, the county is this year to save three fourths of the price formerly paid for the publishing of the county board proceedings and over half on the book of the proceedings. This being the beginning of a new fiscal year in the county a new contract was necessary with the printers, and the News refused to enter into a combine though solicited to do so by the heads of the two other papers and cut the price more than in half on both proceedings and on the book.

The New North however, determined to keep its grip on the county purse, and offered to set up and publish the proceedings for fifteen cents a folio, just one-fourth what the county has paid until now that the News determined to give the county a fair shake.

It would have been a long day before the New North would have offered to cut the price on printing bills but for the advent of the News and the introduction in Rhinelander of up to date newspaper methods—Rhinelander News, May 5, 1911.

The above distortion and misrepresentation of facts is along the same line as a speech made before the county board last week but no one on the board took the talk seriously knowing the man's past record in his relationship to trusts.

The law prescribes that the county board shall have its proceedings printed in at least one newspaper of the county at not to exceed the legal rate, sixty cents per folio; and may designate other papers if it so desires at not to exceed sixty cents per folio for each paper.
It has been the practice for the Minocqua Times, the Vindicator, the Rhinelander Herald and the New North to all bid together, charging but one-fourth the legal rate for each newspaper or fifteen cents per folio for each newspaper, whereas the law permits sixty cents for each newspaper. The reason this could be done at all without a serious loss to the papers, was due to the fact that each paper set only its share of the type and used the type of the other papers in printing its proceedings and the book was printed from this type already set.

This was considered eminently fair if the papers were willing to sacrifice so much of the newspaper space and thus let people all through the county have access to the proceedings, no matter what county newspaper they took.

Each paper did its own bidding and drew its own money direct from the county upon the approval of the county board. Two years ago the New North bid fifty cents a page to get out five hundred books from the type already set for the proceedings, no other paper caring to do the work for the small sum. A year ago, after once getting out the book, the New North bid eighty cents a page for the book, not caring to print it again after its experience of the year before, but was awarded the contract at that price as no other office cared to take the job. In spite of the misrepresentation of the special interest organ, the New North did not give the Minocqua Times or any other paper any part of the money for the work it did in printing the book.

This year the News did not care to bid with the other newspapers and get the small sum of fifteen cents a folio for printing the proceedings but overestimated the influence of its representative on the county board and tried to pull off a deal and get twenty proceedings, the three newspapers eight cents a folio, whereas no other here combining and dividing up the amount received with the Minocqua Times or asked more than that. The printing committee will verify the statement that the New North did not bid on the books at all after two and The News refused to continue years experience, but was told that the method pursued under its former owner, Mr. Trumbull, and Tuesday, would be considered which did not in bid 28 cents a folio on the proceedings, but the News later added a bid of thirty for just half what The New North bid eight cents a page for the books, charged last year. The other publications bid also and The New North desired to hold on to the county.

ARRANGE PROGRAM FOR 17 OF MAY

Sons of Norway Complete All Plans For Big Celebration Next Wednesday

Next Wednesday, May 17, the Norwegians of this city will observe their Independence Day. The Sons of Norway will have charge of the celebration which will be held at the Armory in the evening. An appropriate and interesting program has been arranged.

The observance will commence with a procession from the Scandinavian hall to the Armory early in the evening. The parade will be headed by the fife and drum corp. Those in line will be the Sons of Norway and the children of the Norwegian Sunday school. The route of march has been decided as follows:
From Scandinavian hall south on Brown Street to Merchant State bank, east on Davenport Street to Stevens Street thence to Armory.

Below is printed the program of exercises:

ADVERTISING HELPS TOWN

The Live Awake Advertiser Is A Very Good Booster

No business man in any town should allow a newspaper published in his town to go without his name and business being mentioned somewhere in its columns, says the Maryville (Kas.) News. This applies to all kinds of business—general stores, dry goods, grocers, furniture dealers, manufacturing establishments, automobile dealers, mechanics, professional men, and in fact all classes of business men. This does not mean that you should have a whole or a half or even a quarter of a page ad, in every issue of the paper, but your name and business should be mentioned if you do not use more than a two line space. A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell just what business is represented in a town by looking at the business mentions in the paper. This is the best possible town advertiser. The man who does not advertise his business does an injustice to himself and to his town. He is the man who expects the newspapers to do the most free boosting for his town. The man who insists on sharing the business that comes to a town but refuses to advertise his business is not a valuable addition to any town. The life of any town depends upon the live wide-awake and liberal advertiser business man.

BIG TRACT OF TIMBER

The Mason-Donaldson Lumber Company reports that it has enough timber at State Line and vicinity to permit of manufacturing 10,000,000 feet annually for seven or eight years, states the American Lumberman. The company is having about 10,000,000 feet manufactured in this city at Robbins No. 2 mill and Stevens mill.

THE FIRST STRAW HAT

Alex McRae is entitled to a Carnegie medal. He had the nerve to appear on the streets Wednesday with a wide brimmed straw bonnet adorning his dome.

PUBLISH BABY'S PICTURE

Last week's issue of the American Lumberman contains a picture of Elizabeth Crosby, the little daughter of C. P. Crosby.

Referring to the child's age the article said: "She is two going on three. She is usually going in the yard or about the house."

THE NEW NORTH.

THE NEW NORTH PRINTING CO.
MAY 11, 1911.

Dr. J. T. Elliott was in Menico yesterday.

J. J. Reardon is home from his Michigan trip.

Several Antigo young men attended the Junior Prom here Friday.

Judge Billings spent last Sunday at his cottage at Tomahawk Lake.

Joe Stearns was over from Bundy last night to see the Lyman Twins.

Jas. D. Murphy of Livingston, Tex., formerly of View, Minn., is visiting friends in the city.

Ed. Horn and Oscar Jacobson returned Wednesday from a month's stay at Milwaukee.

J. S. Weldman, millionaire lumberman of Mt. Pleasant, Mich., was a guest at the Rapids House, Tuesday.

A large fire place is being built in the den at M. H. Raymond's residence. The chimney is of terra cotta.

Roy Walters returned to Wausau to day after a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Walters in the town of Pelican.

Miss Grace Panabaker returned to Wausau, Monday. She came here to attend the Junior Prom and visit Miss Mae Panabaker.

A number of Rhinelander young people, including high school students, have announced their intentions of attending the prom at Antigo, Friday evening.

Mrs. Ed. Healy and children went to Antigo yesterday for a two days visit. They will return here for a brief stay before returning to Glendive, Mont.

L. A. Doolittle, the well known Eau Claire attorney, is in the city this week looking up tax list lands. He will be one of the heavy purchasers at the annual sale.

Dave Mettayer, who for over a year has been living with his father, Al Mettayer, at Memphis, Tenn., returned to Rhinelander, Friday to reside with his sister and brothers.

Miss Helen Alban arrived home Tuesday evening from a sojourn of three months at Hollywood, Cal., and Seattle, Wash. The western climate proved very beneficial to her and she is much improved in health.

R. G. Lowell returned to Minneapolis Monday after spending three days with his family here. Mr. Lowell is well satisfied with his new position and is making good.

Miss Julia Brophy, saleslady at the Golden Dry Goods Company's store, departed Wednesday for Spokane and other cities in the West. She intends to remain six weeks visiting among friends.

Chas. Conro's touring car presents a gaudy appearance since being treated with a new coat of enamel. The color scheme is brown and white. Mr. Conro's monogram is also conspicuous.

For sale—At this office, fine map hangers, consisting of three maps, 1 of the world, 1 of Wisconsin, 1 of the United States and the Panama Canal Region. A fund of information in small space, should be in every home. Price 25 cents.

Where the Rub Comes!

When you stop to think, you realize that if you deliberately sought to wear out your clothes as quickly as possible, you could find no way more effective than to rub and scrub them on a washboard as do our competitors and your home laundress.

We regard it just as important to preserve the fabric as to remove the dirt. Our process is based on that policy.

The dirt is first loosened by soft water and pure soap, and hot water is then forced back and forth through the fabric until every particle of dirt is washed out.

Try us.

Attorney H. G. Bell of Tomahawk was in the city, Saturday.

Miss Elsie Kuehn was the guest of Monico friends over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Laduke have commenced housekeeping at 1027 Alban Street.

Adore Barney went to Amrey Wednesday to attend the funeral of his grandfather.

Mrs. H. D. Johnson of Gagen was a guest at the homes of E. A. and W. C. Liebenstein, Monday.

Miss Annie Cleary has been confined to her home the past week with an attack of appendicitis.

Harvey Shelp returned from Gladstone, Friday. There seems to be some attraction here for Harvey.

The Rebekah lodge of this city will give a card party and social at the I. O. O. F. hall Friday evening. All are cordially invited.

Walter Gander, Jr., of the Roger Printing Company of Eagle River, was in the city Saturday. The New North acknowledges a pleasant fraternal call.

J. M. Howell, a popular druggist of Greensburg, Ky., says, "We use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in our own household and know it is excellent." For sale by All Dealers.

John Langdon, who recently returned from the south where he spent part of the winter, has resumed his former position with the Pelican River Lumber company. Mr. Langdon is considered one of the most efficient saw mill men in the business.

UNIVERSITY TEACHES 10,000

That the University of Wisconsin is instructing 9,469 students this year is shown by the new catalogue now in press. Of these, 5,538 have been in attendance at Madison, and 3,931 have received instruction by correspondence through the extension division.

The total attendance at Madison, 5,538, is an increase of 591 over that of last year, a gain of 11.9 per cent. This means that there are more students attending the university this year than there are inhabitants according to the census of 1910, in such cities of Wisconsin as Berlin, De Pere, Kaukauna, Menomonie, Monroe, Platteville, Portage, Ripon, Sparta, Sturgeon Bay, and Whitewater.

The greatest percentage of gain is in the college of agriculture, where the students have increased in the two and four year courses from 403 to 602, a growth of nearly 50 per cent. The college of engineering has increased to 507, the college of law has an attendance of 148 and the school of music 74, with 180 students in other colleges of the university electing courses in the school of music.

The college of letters and science continues to show its regular ten per cent gain, the number of students having increased from 2,211 to 2,472, a growth of 231. The summer session advanced from 1,128 to 1,263, a gain of 135 or nearly 11 per cent.

In the commerce course there are 331 students, as compared with 250 last year, an increase of 81 or over 32 per cent. The course in pharmacy has 47 this year, against 42 last year, the course in chemistry has 65, compared with 67 last year. In the courses in journalism there are 17 students this year, as compared with 123 last year.

In the college of agriculture 473 attended the short course this winter, as compared with 461 last year, and 138 were in the dairy course as compared with 100 last year.

In the course for the training of teachers 456 enrolled this year, and in the library school 29. In the graduate school the number increased from 231 to 347.

JERRY'S NARROW ESCAPE

Jerry Bentley drove a brisk pair of ponies in from Bundy Saturday night and when part way to this city narrowly escaped an encounter with an automobile. The machine, which was eating up the road after the manner of the "eighteen hour limited," swooped down upon the team in a deep cut. Jerry had barely time to turn the horses into a ditch and avoid a distressing accident. As the car rushed by the carriage Jerry succeeded in striking one of the occupants a severe blow with his whip. The reckless driving of some autoists on the county roads, and especially at night, is dangerous to say the least.

IN THE WAKE OF THE MEASLES

The little son of Mrs. O. B. Palmer, Little Rock, Ark., had the measles. The result was a severe cough which grew worse and he could not sleep. She says: "One bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound completely cured him and he has never been bothered since." Croup, whooping cough, measles cough all yield to Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. The genuine is in the yellow package always. Refuse substitutes. J. J. Reardon.

HUNTING FOR SETTLERS

Robt. Riley returned Saturday from Indiana where he spent a number of days in an effort to induce prospective settlers to locate on lands in Oneida county. He represented C. P. Crosby of this city.

Mr. Riley says that he found a large number of Hoosiers who are willing to become residents of northern Wisconsin, but that they did not care to make the move at this time of year. He expects to make another trip to that state later in the year with the hopes of accomplishing big results.

FARMERS ATTENTION

Having recently purchased the draft stallion, Bill-DeKora Jr., we have decided to make a stand at the farm of Walter Kerber, Crescent Flat, for the entire season, beginning Sunday May 7. Those who are interested should make it a point to see the horse at Mr. Kerber's farm May 7, 8 and 9.

Official notice has been received at the Rhinelander postoffice of a parcels post agreement between United States and Haiti. Parcels not exceeding 11 pounds in weight or three and a half feet in length may be sent to that country at the rate of 12 cents per pound.

SUICIDE AT WABENO

Barkeeper Ends Life When Hotel Waitress Refuses Him

The little town of Wabeno was the scene of a sensational suicide last Saturday night. Disappointed in love Frank Thilkey, a barkeeper in the Grand Plank hotel, shot and killed himself in the presence of a young woman who is a waitress at the hotel. Thilkey, it is said, had asked the girl to become his wife and when she refused him, he pulled out a revolver and put a bullet through his head. Death resulted almost instantly. Thilkey was thirty-three years of age and came to Wabeno from Marinette.

Report states that he had been keeping company with the waitress for some time and that she seemed to encourage him. He was desperately in love.

MILWAUKEE'S UNEMPLOYED

According to the Evening Wisconsin there is more or less exaggeration to the stories regarding Milwaukee's vast number of unemployed. The Wisconsin says:

The unemployed situation in Milwaukee at this time is not as distressing as certain alarmists would have the people believe.

In comparison with last year at this time, there are not any more men seeking work.

The situation throughout the winter just past was no worse than in winters of the last ten years.

Stockkeepers and manufacturers are daily employing more men. In several stores visited enough help of the unskilled kind can not be secured.

Farmers tributary to Milwaukee county and in the northern sections of the state are daily asking Milwaukee employment bureaus for competent men for the season's work on the land.

Many of the men lounging about the streets are chronically tired; they wouldn't accept a job were it offered them, accompanied by a piece of pie.

PUBLIC LIBRARY NOTES

Books On Gardens And Culture Of Vegetables And Flowers

Those who are interested in gardening this spring may be glad to know of the material which can be obtained at the library on this subject.

One of the recent books received is The Home Garden by Eben E. Rexford, author of several books on gardening. It contains practical chapters on preparation, planning and planting the garden and the hot bed, how to grow asparagus, strawberries, raspberries, blackberries, currants, grapes, etc. It gives advice on the selection, planting and cultivation of nearly all of the vegetables for table use.

The list of books is not long, but they contain all of the information necessary for an amateur.

Hunt—Practical Garden Book.
Saint Maur—Self-Supporting Home.
Ely—Woman's Handy Garden.
Roxford—The Home Garden.
Marshall—Mushroom Book.
Mihman—My Roses and How I Grew Them.

Mushrooms are very easily grown in the cellar or shed by even the inexperienced and those who are fond of them can find sufficient directions for their culture.

Aside from these books, some of the most valuable material is contained in the periodicals—The Garden magazine is devoted almost entirely to gardening, while the Craftsman, American Homes And Gardens, Delineator, Keith's magazine, etc., contain much that is useful and instructive.

Suburban Life, Mar. '11 (the annual garden number) has excellent articles on the various subjects connected with gardening such as growing good tomatoes, the ideal vegetable gardens, planting vegetables for the table and flowers, a busy man's garden, etc.

A few suggestive articles from the periodicals are:

Angell—Growing Strawberries for What's in Them. Garden Mag. May '11.
Miller—April in the Vegetable Garden.
Powell—Making Gardens. Outing, June '10.
Putnam—Growing Sweet Peas. Keith's Mag. Apr. '11.
Rion—Three Hundred Acres and Three. Craftsman, Apr. '11.
The Whole Subject of Dahlia Culture. Garden Mag. May, '11.

RETURNING TO RHINELANDER

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Fritsch, who went to Germany last summer, have decided to return to Rhinelander to reside and will arrive here about May 20. Evidently the Fatherland doesn't look as good to them as this town.

RECEIVE INSURANCE MONEY

Gust Swedberg and James Stafford have each received checks for $1000, the full amount of insurance carried by the late Mrs. Swedberg and Mrs. Stafford in the Royal Neighbors lodge of this city.

EVENTS OF WEEK IN OTHER TOWNS

Items of More or Less Importance Boiled Down From Neighboring Exchanges

Antigo

Twenty families have been located on lands in Langlade county within the last three weeks by Duchac & Company. They come from several states, including Nebraska, Colorado and Illinois. Nearly all of them are well supplied with money and have bought considerable machinery, hardware and other equipment for their farms. These people will soon be numbered among the most thrifty of Ulsters of northern Wisconsin soil. During the last three years Duchac & Company have placed 123 families in the county.

Ironwood

Owing to a dullness in the ore market four hundred employees at the Newport mine have been laid off. The men were nearly all of the transient class of workers and it is not thought that their retirement will be felt much by the business men of the city. None of the other mines will make any reductions in their force. The Newport company is preparing for extensive improvements in the way of new buildings. Five large brick structures are to be put up, a hospital, store, house, carpenter shop, blacksmith shop and laboratory. The Newport is the largest underground iron mine in the world.

Ladysmith

The Jalnke Creamery Co. will be ready for business here this week. The capacity of the plant will be 1000 pounds of butter per day. The company has creameries located at Merrill, Columbus, Alice and Gilt Edge and a creamery, cold storage and ice cream factory at Watertown. It is ascertained that there are sufficient cows in this vicinity to make a creamery a paying investment.

Ashland

This city is having a unique distinction in view of the fact that the postoffice here is just opening the second postal savings bank in Wisconsin. The first postal savings bank was established in connection with the Manitowoc postoffice a few months ago and the second one in Wisconsin was opened at Ashland on May 1. The deposits the first day were only $125 but Postmaster Fifield thinks they will steadily increase as a great many people have made inquiries and seem to be planning on the system as a place to deposit their savings.

Marinette

Arthur Polkowski, charged with not causing his son to attend school regularly, which is a crime, under the Wisconsin law, was found guilty by a jury in circuit court, Friday. The case is of more than ordinary interest because it is believed to be the first one under this new statute which has ever been tried in a circuit court of Wisconsin. The statute was enacted by the state legislature in 1909 and comparatively few prosecutions have been brought under the act. Violation of this law is a misdemeanor but not a felony.

Marinette

One of the largest apple orchards in northern Wisconsin is being planted by C. L. Cook, the millionaire farmer of this city. One hundred acres have been planted to apples, 40 acres are now being planted and 200 acres is being laid out for planting during the next year. This will make a total of 400 acres in apples, divided into some five separate orchard plots, each being planted to a different variety of apples.

Crandon

The Republican says that for alleged unskillful and negligent setting of the bones, resulting in a crooked leg, James Brennan of Crandon, sues the Hackley-Phelps-Bonnell Lumber Company and Dr. F. M. Pritchard of Hackley, for $10,000 damages. The complaint cites that Dr. Pritchard was the company's physician and as such was treated by him when he suffered an accident in which he fractured both bones of one of his legs. The case will be tried this month at Wausau before Judge Reid.

Ashland

Showing not only courage but presence of mind and coolness rare in a lad of his age, Roland McLaughlin, aged 12, saved the life of Seymour Scripture here when the latter fell into the river while fishing. After Scripture had gone down for the third time McLaughlin dove after him and dragged the unconscious body to the bank. While the other lads ran for help, McLaughlin proceeded to resuscitate his companion and worked so successfully that when physicians arrived he was already conscious. Had McLaughlin allowed him to lie on the bank until the arrival of the doctors he would undoubtedly have died.

Merrill

The common council has decided to erect a new ten room school building in the second ward. H. L. Terry, state high school inspector, condemned the use of the present building. It was shown in his report that the structure was in poor condition and that it must either be repaired or a new building erected.

Grand Rapids

George Kirk Muir, a Grand Rapids hero, was awarded $1000 by the Carnegie hero fund commission, at their spring meeting recently held in Pittsburg. Two years ago, young Muir aided in the rescue of four young persons from drowning in the Wisconsin river, at which time he contracted a heavy cold from which he never recovered. He is now receiving treatment for tuberculosis at the state sanitarium in Wales, Wis. Mr. Muir was awarded a bronze medal by the commission last January, but through the intervention of friends who realized that on account of failing health he needed pecuniary aid, a cash reward was also granted.

DOING THEIR DUTY

Scores of Rhinelander Readers Are Learning the Duty of the Kidneys To filter the blood is the kidneys' duty.

When they fail to do this the kidneys are sick.

Backache and many kidney ills follow.

Help the kidneys do their work.

Doan's Kidney Pills build up weak kidneys.

Rhinelander people endorse our claim.

Mrs. W. E. Snow, 910 Margaret Street, Rhinelander, Wis., says: Doan's Kidney Pills have been very beneficial to members of my family and I know that they can be relied upon to cure kidney and bladder trouble. One member of my family took this remedy when suffering from various symptoms of kidney complaint and in a short time was entirely relieved. I advise other persons afflicted with kidney complaint to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial.

WICKLOW COUPLE WED

Miss Josie Lee and Gustav Erickson, two popular young people of Wicklow, this county, were married on May 3 at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Lee. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. H. Lewis.

FLASHES FROM THE HEADLIGHT

Bits of News Pertaining To The Soo and Northwestern Railroads

H. R. McCullough, vice-president of the Northwestern line, was arrested for fishing without a non-resident license by Herman Volbrecht, deputy game warden at Black Oak Lake, Vilas county, last Wednesday. McCullough appeared before Judge Higgins at Eagle River and the case was adjourned until tomorrow (Friday).

Owing to the light operations which will be carried on at many of the mines on the Gogebic range this summer the Northwestern and Soo lines anticipate a quiet season in ore shipments.

Testimony was taken before Attorney A. W. Wolfe last week in the case of Guy J. Burnette against the Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie Railway company. The transcript when sent to St. Paul, where the case was tried in the Ramsey county court yesterday. Burnette, who sues the railway company for damages, through his father as next friend, lost his right leg last July by being caught under the cars at the east end of the Gladstone coal dock, while delivering groceries to a coal boat. The testimony was principally in regards to the conditions of the ground and the customary way of approaching the dock on business. — Gladstone Reporter.

Wm. Morten and family have moved to this city from Gladstone. Mr. Morten is an employee of the Soo railway company.

Work has been started on the new double track steel and concrete bridge for the Northwestern road across the Montreal river between Hurley and Ironwood.

PRENTICE WILL REBUILD

Town Has Not Been Wiped Off Map By Conflagration

Contrary to reports that appeared in several papers, Prentice has by no means been "wiped off the map" says the Calumet of that city.

"That the town has again suffered a heavy financial loss and setback through the disastrous fire of last week no one can gainsay, but the town will still 'do business' at the old stand." Less than a third of the business houses of Prentice were destroyed and most of these will rebuild or open up in other quarters.

"The press of neighboring cities have been uniformly kind in their comments on the fire and in their expressions of sympathy over the material loss suffered by this town in the conflagration. They may render Prentice a valuable service and show the sincerity of their sympathy in a practical manner by doing what they can to counteract the impression that the town has been completely wiped off the map as some papers have stated. Such reports, if not corrected, are hurtful to the town and the town has lost enough as it is, without adding to it."

TO SELL SCHOOL HOUSES

On May 12 the Town of Pelican school board will sell to the highest bidder two old school houses located in district 3, known as the Olson school, and district No. 4, known as the Hardell school. Sale will take place at the Pelican town hall. Board reserves right to reject any and all bids.

H. E. KNAPP, Sec. Town Pelican School Board.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY REMEDY ACTED QUICKLY

Mr. N. George, Irondale, Ala., was bothered with kidney trouble for many years. "I was persuaded to try Foley's Kidney Remedy, and before taking it three days, I could feel its beneficial effects. The pain left my back, my kidneys action cleared up, and I am so much better, I do not hesitate to recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy."

BASE BALL
The game was called with Molasses at the stick. Smallpox was catching. Coal was in the box and had lot of steam. Horn was playing first base and Fiddle second base. Corn was in the field and Apple umpire. When Ace came to bat he chopped and Coal let Brick walk and Sawdust filled the bases. Song made a hit and Twenty made a score. Every spot of ground kicked and said said Apple was rotten. Balloon began to pitch and finally went up in the air. Then Cherry tried to but he was a wild one. When spider caught a fly the crowd cheered. Old Ice kept cooling the game until Coal burnt him with a pitched ball. Then you ought to have heard Ice Cream. Cabbage had a good head and kept quiet. Green Grass covered lots of ground in the outfield. Organ refused to play and Bread loafed around and put him out. In the fifth inning Wind began to blow about what he could do and Hammer began to knock; then the trees began to leave. Knife was put out for cutting first base. There was lots of betting on the game and Egg went broke; but Soap cleaned up. They all kicked when in the heat of the game Coal was put out and his future temporarily cooked; but not until he had roasted Pork for his pig-headedness. Balloon went up in the air when Pig began to root. The score was 1-0 when Apple told Fiddle to take second base. Oats was shocked not having a grain of sense. Song made another hit and Trombone began to slide; but was put out. Meat was playing for a big steak; but was put out at the plate after being roasted by the umpire. The score was 1-0 and the game was over. Door said if he had pitched he would have shut them out.—Ex.

WARNING TO RAILROAD MEN
E. S. Bacon, 11 East St., Bath, Me., sends out this warning to railroaders: "A conductor on the railroad, my work caused a chronic inflammation of the kidneys, and I was miserable and all played out. A friend advised Foley Kidney Pills and from the day I commenced taking them, I began to regain my strength. The inflammation cleared and I am far better than I have been for twenty years. The weakness and d'zzy spells are a thing of the past and I highly recommend Foley Kidney Pills."

Questions For Farmers

Is the larger part of your land an expense instead of a profit? Does your little clearing have to support the un-cleared land? Do you know that a little money spent in improving would make this land more than pay for the improvements in a few years? The more progressive farmers realize this fact and that is why so many of them are taking advantage of our long time loans and clearing up their land. If you need a little money write and see what we can do for you.

WEEKLY MAGAZINE

The Great Progressive Weekly

There are many reasons why you should read what it says 52 times each year. It is free to tell the truth. It will oppose the encroachment of special privileges upon the people's rights. It will call the roll on public men and measures and inform you how your congressmen work and vote. It will criticize the executive branch of government from the highest to the lowest, if in its judgment the people's interests are not protected. It will spread the gospel of ideal home life through the Women's Department. It will be conservative when good things are to be conserved, and radical when bad things are to be exposed.

MORSE WRITES ON THE RECIPROCITY

Congressman Declares There Is Nothing Reciprocal About The Bill

I got a letter today that started a line of thought that was new and yet as old as the Republic. The letter was from a manufacturer in North Carolina. He said, "I am praying that you will vote against the Farmer's Free Trade Bill, and I and the two hundred laborers who work in my bagging factory are praying that Congress may see the light and kill this bill."

Impatiently I dictate the reply. "Every Congressman from your State voted to take away every penny of protection that my farmers now have. The farmers in my State, who are the bone and sinew of the Commonwealth, are just beginning to reap the benefit of protection. It is only during the last three or four years that farming has paid and now just as we are commencing to reap the benefit of good prices, your people propose to make us sell in a free trade market. If we have to sell there, we will buy in a free trade market if my vote will give it to our farmers. Of course it will ruin you and your laborers. Of course you cannot compete with Chinese and East Indian labor and live. What is sauce for the goose ought to be good sauce for the gander, and I propose that you shall eat part of the sauce if we have to give it to you with a force pump. North Carolina has shouted her head off for Free Trade for years, and now I want you to have it and I hope you will get it in allopathic doses."

The same kind of letters are arriving by every mail. Everywhere laborers in our mills are protesting against putting the things that they make on the Free List. Over ten thousand laborers in paper mills have sent resolutions of protest to me, and I suppose to every other Member of Congress.

What does it all mean? It is simply this. All of our industries have been protected. Our wages are high and as a natural consequence, everything that is made by well paid labor is high also. But up to this time we have had the money to pay for them. But if all these things are put on the Free List, the cost of the articles will go down some.

Our fute and cotton bagging will be made in China and India, and the mills here will close. Our cotton goods will be made in Japan and the cotton mills will close. Our hose, mittens, and underwear will be made in Germany and France and our knitting factories will close. Our paper will be made in Canada and our paper mills will close, our railroads will stop hauling pulp-wood and paper and a few crews will be taken off; our farmers will burn the pulp on the land and this source of income will cease. The same thing will be true of a thousand industries. But President Taft and the Democratic Party will reduce the cost of living. There is not a doubt on that score. We will buy cheaper, if we have the money to buy with.

I believe in real reciprocity—the getting of something for what you give; but in this bill the only real trade is with the great newspapers and magazines. It will be interesting to see whether or not they "reciprocate," and it will be interesting to read the returns from rural communities on election night and see how the farmers "reciprocate."

The fact is, as I have so often stated it, that the great trusts, while they are stealing us blind, are pointing at the tariff and shouting "stop thief." If we would stop long enough to investigate we would find the real thief, the real cause of the high cost of living and having found it we could correct the evil.

We put hides on the fee list and the tallow trust pushed up the price of leather. We reduced shoes to 10 per cent and they went up. We put kerosene, gasoline and fifty-one other products of crude oil on the free list and the price remains the same. And the same will be true of everything else that is trust controlled.

When we get our eyes open, we will demand that the Government control the Trusts and their prices in the interest of the people, or that it let the job out to some Government that can.

E. A. MORSE.

PROTECTS BEAVER COLONY

Jas. Oberholtzer, head deputy game warden for this district, was at Hurley last Friday, where a large colony of beavers were driven from their homes at the Pence Iron mine. The presence of the beavers was a hindrance to operations at the mine. Mr. Oberholtzer looked after the protection of the little animals and saw that the game laws concerning them were respected. This is one of the few remaining beaver colonies in the state.

BUYS ANDERSON HOME

Attorney Harry Reers has purchased the residence of E. W. Anderson on Rives street. This is a very desirable property.

Worn in Every Climate

"DOROTHY DODD" ideas are always clever and original, and with the wealth of material their makers had to draw from this season, they will, without question, produce the most dainty, stylish and graceful women's footwear on the market.

Dorothy Dodd

SHOE

"DOROTHY DODD" Shoes are worn in every climate. There are special styles for special countries. They dance to the click of the Spanish Senorita's castanets; they stroll decorously down Pall Mall and Piccadilly; they trip lightly over Parisian Boulevards; they walk alike the shores of the Pacific and the Mediterranean;—and in America they are worn from Portland, Maine, to Portland, Oregon.

This season the women of America and their sisters in foreign lands may wear shoes that in grace of outline, beautiful materials and Faultless Fit are so far in advance of the average line of women's shoes, that there is absolutely no comparison.

Happenings Of Interest At Saint Augustine's Church

The Trip to the Holy Land, an attendance contest which two sides of St. Augustine's Sunday School have carried on during the winter, will end next Sunday by one of the crews reaching the Holy Land. The Mauritanian crew is slightly in the lead but an extra large attendance of Lusitanians may carry them in first. The losing side is to give the winners a party.

S. Elisabeth's Guild, and S. Augustine's Young Men's Club closed their years social events with a party given in honor of Mr. Roy Anderson, Treasurer of the Young Men's Club, who who leaves for Montana this week.

The most delightful feature of the evening was a progressive school, a game invented by one of the young men. Dancing and light refreshments closed the evening.

St. Augustine's Troop of Scouts are making weekly field trips. The boys are showing rapid improvement in tracking, wig-wagging signals, and starting, safeguarding and extinguishing fires.

How To Stop Stubborn Cough

We don't mean just stop the irritation in your throat—but cure the underlying cause.

Cough syrups cannot do this. It takes a constitutional tonic body builder to do the work properly—and cure you to stay cured. Vinol is the remedy you need.

HERE IS PROOF

Mrs. Minnie Orwood, of Glen Falls, N. Y., writes: "After trying several remedies for a bad cough and cold without benefit, I was asked to try Vinol. It worked like magic. It cured my cold and cough and I gained in health and strength. I consider Vinol the most wonderful tonic and invigorator I ever saw."

If we cannot stop that cough with VINOL—our delicious cod liver and iron tonic—which is made without oil—we will not charge you a cent for the medicine you buy. This seems like a pretty fair proposition—and ought to be accepted. Don't you think so? With this understanding we ask you to try a bottle of VINOL.

Joan J. Reardon, Druggist, Rhinelander, Wis.

and seconded by Alderman Crosby that the Mayor issue a notice for a general cleaning up day throughout the city on May 15th. Carried.

Moved by Alderman Pecor and seconded by Alderman Cain that the Assessor be authorized and instructed to employ such help as may be necessary to properly assess lumber and logs, dry goods stores, hardware stores and all other merchants and business places in the city. Carried, all voting aye.

Upon motion council adjourned.

GUST SWEDBERG, city clerk.

ENTERPRISE

Julius Foistad is through peeling poles.
Nels Johnson has placed a fence around his farm.
Gustave Schoeneck Jr., has been appointed assessor in place of John Murry who moved away.
Mrs. Oscar Zimble left Monday for Crandon where she intends to stay for a few days.
A crew of men is busy working on the telephone line to Pelican.
Fred Kushman returned from Montana on Tuesday where he has been for several weeks. He said there is nothing like old Enterprise.
The marriage of Herman Schoeneck and Miss Clara Pests was performed by Rev. DeJung of Rhinelander last Tuesday. A large crowd attended church. As no wedding trip was planned the new couple with relatives and friends passed the evening by playing games. Several families from Rhinelander were also present. Our good wishes go with the newly weds.
AROUND THE CIRCLE
Charley Stinert made a business trip to Merrill, returning the first of the week.
According to the latest market reports from the "flats" farm produce took a sudden drop last week, especially in the line of "Cackol Berries" so Tom Sherman says.

A. E. Briggs made a trip "Around the Circle" with Carrier Easton the first of the week.
Dennle Boehm seems to have quit a strong inclination to meander toward the Meyers residence of late. We wonder why?
John McKinzie is now employed upon the Louis Saterstrom farm in the Town of Crescent.
Mrs. Edward Lawrence was a City caller the first of the week.
Harrison Wolf has taken a position with the McLaughlin Dairy farm.
Fels Lunburg has been spending a few weeks visiting friends in Chicago Ill., returning the first of the week accompanied by his wife, who has been visiting a sister there for the past few weeks.
Louis Haas has opened a boat livery at Lake Julia and lunch counter in connection.
Mrs. J. H. Anderson, nee Coacberg, is visiting her parents for a few weeks.
Daniel Kress is now located upon the Frank Hildebrand farm on the Merrill road.
Master Louis Haas had a pleasant birthday party recently when numerous little friends gathered to celebrate his fourth birthday.

DIETZ SCORES A POINT

Gun Expert Gives Some Strong Testimony For Defence

On Tuesday John Dietz, on trial before Judge Reed at Hayward on the charge of killing Deputy Oscar Harp, opened the defense of himself and Mrs. Dietz and Leslie with a motion for the dismissal of all three defendants. The court denied it. Dietz then moved that the jury be dismissed as they would be persecuted by the "lumber trust" if they were acquitted. This also was denied.
Capt. Robert Kane of Milwaukee, a gun expert, testified he could see no distinguishing marks connecting the bullet taken from the body of Deputy Oscar Harp with bullets fired from Dietz's gun. On cross-examination he was forced to admit his conclusions were a matter of speculation, based on experience. He also agreed with the prosecution that "bullets do strange things inside a man's body."

ACCEPTS GOOD POSITION

P. L. Whitler, late of the Kolden Dry Goods Company, has accepted the position of assistant manager at the big Page-Korb store at Crandon. Mr. Whitler's long experience in the merchandise line rightly fits him for the place. He will commence work next Monday but will not move his family to Crandon at this time.

ENLARGE MONICO PLANT

Dr. Kabel, proprietor of the excelsior mill at Monico, while in the city Tuesday stated that he contemplates making a number of improvements at the plant this summer. The factory will be enlarged and new machinery added. This will increase the output of the mill and necessitate the employment of a larger crew.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank the many kind friends and members of the Sons of Norway, Mystic Workers and K. O. T. M. Lodges, for their assistance and sympathy during the illness and death of my beloved wife. Martin Iverson.

JUAREZ FALLS

The rebels are advancing toward the City of Mexico. It appears now as though President Diaz would be given no opportunity to treat with the rebels until he is crushed.

LYMAN TWINS PLEASE

The Lyman Twins at the Grand Opera House last night pleased a large audience. The Lyman give a first class show.

HOW TO DISCOURAGE A HEN

Watch Encoiled in Imitation Egg Will Quickly Break Up Desire for Setting.

The propensity of some hens to set, in season or out, on eggs, stones, doorknobs or anything that comes handy, is one of the most grievous afflictions of the poultry keeper. One keeper, however, claims to have discovered a sure cure for this sort of thing.
It consists of a cheap watch that ticks loudly and clearly and is enclosed in a white egg-shaped case. When a hen manifests a desire to set at the wrong time the poultryman gently places under her this bogus egg, and the egg does the rest. Cheerfully it ticks away. The hen soon begins to show signs of uneasiness. She stirs the noisy egg with her bill, thinking perhaps it is time for it to hatch and the chicken in it wants to get out. She grows more and more nervous as the noise keeps on, and finally she jumps off the nest and runs around awhile to get cool.
Generally she returns to her self-imposed duty, but things get worse and worse with her. She wriggles about and cackles, jitters her feathers and looks wild, until at last, with a frenzied squawk, she abandons the nest for good and all. The fever of incubation is broken up completely.

A READER OF HUMAN FACES.

Expert Was Clever In Some Ways, but Stupid In Love.

By HOWARD FIELDING.
(Copyright, 1916, by American Press Association.)

At General Clarendon's house the other evening in a merry company of young people such as may very often be found there the talk chanced to turn upon the reading of the human countenance. This topic was suggested by the presence of Walter Baring, whose recent articles on facial expression have been widely discussed. Baring was, of course, the only one of us whose opinion was worth a penny, but we had the usual readiness to display and defend our ignorant conjectures, the usual unwillingness to see the difference between a well considered theory and a mere notion. The upshot of it was that Baring consented to perform an experiment for us.
He wrote a sentence on a slip of paper and put it under a book on a table. Then he left the room. As had been agreed, we drew lots when he was gone, and the choice fell upon me to look at what he had written. It was: "When this is done you will have failed. I will have won."
I put the paper into my pocket and resumed my place. Baring had arranged us in a close group, so that he could command our faces at a single glance. He returned and, standing before us, said:
"When this is done you will have failed. I shall have won."
It may have been the "shall" that caught me, for I had remarked, with surprise, the incorrect "will" in the written sentence. Though I was not conscious of any change of expression, my face must have betrayed me, for Baring instantly pointed me out.
"I will try it again," said he, "with a somewhat different trick."
He wrote a longer sentence and stipulated that whoever should read it must remember it. The person chosen by lot in Baring's absence was Anna Clarendon, the general's daughter, and Baring singled her out without a moment's hesitation.
"It was you who read the sentence," said he, "but you've forgotten it."
This proved to be true. Baring had written one of those tangled absurdities which are so hard to memorize, and it had slipped from Miss Clarendon's mind. Her inward struggle to regain it was perfectly clear to Baring's trained eye.
There was a young man named Willis Rutherford present, and I observed that he was deeply impressed by Baring's exhibition, though it was not new to him, for the two were close friends, and Rutherford had seen many severe tests of the other's powers.
"There wasn't the slightest indication in Anna's face," said he to me ever, that Baring did know some secret of Rutherford's that should be a bar to his marriage with Anna Clarendon. Baring might be bound in honor not to betray his friend, and yet he might feel privileged to school Anna in the mysteries of character reading for her own protection. But this was mere guesswork on my part. The facts in the case came to my knowledge presently.

About noon of the next Saturday Baring and Rutherford met accidentally in that little piece of pandemonium that lies at the New York end of the Brooklyn bridge. Rutherford was about to descend the stairs to the subway, and Baring had just come up.

"I hear that you're going out to the Stuarts for the week end," said Rutherford.

Baring shook his head.

"No," said he; "I was asked, but I'm not going anywhere more."

"What do you mean by that?"

"Simply that the world is the world and I am poor," answered Baring.

"All my friends are rich. I can't make money, so I must give up my friends. From him that hath not shall be taken away even that which he hath." When General Clarendon came into his brother's vast possessions the last link was broken that bound me to society. My patrimony is too small to mention. I'm a poor author; that's the size of me. My apartments are not a garret, but it's quite the same thing in these days."

"The Clarendons?"

"I know it. They're the last people in the world to found a distinction upon a difference of fortune. But they're not doing it, you see. I'm doing it."

"I used to think you were rather fond of Anna," said Rutherford, with more feeling than the simple words seemed to call for.

"I was and am and ever shall be," answered Baring, "but my hopes extend no further than that she may marry a good man." And he looked straight into Rutherford's eyes.

Rutherford laughed in an embarrassed fashion as he shifted his glance.

"Confound your parlor magic," said he. "I've seen so much of it that I can't bear to have you look at me."

"I don't see anything that you need be ashamed of," responded Baring.

"Then wish me well," said Rutherford. "Wish me well tomorrow."

Baring understood. Miss Clarendon was to be at the Stuarts' for the week end, and Rutherford had resolved to try the hazard of his happiness.

"I'm to meet Anna on the platform below," said Rutherford after a pause.

"She has been at her father's office. We're going uptown together and then to the Stuarts on the 2 o'clock train with some others of the party. I must hurry. I should not have delayed so long. It is possible that Anna may be already on the platform. Walk along down with me."

They went down the stairs together and as far as the ticket office, where Baring bade his friend goodbye. As he turned back toward the stairs he saw Miss Clarendon descending.

He was not in the mood to meet her, and so he stepped aside into the mouth of a gallery that opens from the main passage. She passed close to him, but did not see him, though for a moment she seemed to look almost straight into his face. He observed her keenly. An overmastering impulse had taken possession of him, and he exerted all the power of his singular gift, developed by years of patient study. She was on her way to meet Willis Rutherford, of whose love for her it was impossible that she should be unaware. Unless she lacked the intuition of her sex she must know that he was on the very verge of a declaration. The next few hours would bring her the happiness of love confessed, if indeed she loved. Could she carry this knowledge in her heart and not reveal it to such an observer as Baring? In mere sport he had read trivial secrets in her face. Could he fail to read a secret which is often amusingly clear even to untrained eyes?

Experience whispered to him that the moment was exceptionally opportune. The girl was hurrying to meet Rutherford. Surely if she cared for him his image would be clear in her mind. And haste itself relaxes the habitual control whereby we overlay what is simple and natural with what is conventional.

Unconscious of his presence, she passed him and was gone. Baring put up his hands to his eyes and leaned for a moment against the tiled wall of the gallery. Shame and anguish swept over him like a bitter flood. He had spied upon the woman he loved. The long indulged habit of his peculiar study had tempted him with the sudden thought of an achievement difficult to the verge of impossibility, and at the trial it had proved to be far easier than the simplest of those tricks with which he was accustomed to astonish his intimates. If Anna Clarendon had confessed her love for Rutherford in the most precise terms which the language affords she could have added nothing to Baring's certainty. His bad angel, who had led him into this dishonorable experiment, had chosen a moment for it when the girl's secret was written in every feature.

Baring found his way to a little workroom of his high up in the towering structure, and there he sat down by the window and gazed out over the city. He hated every inch of it. The frightful ugliness and preposterous cost of the vast structures spread out before his eyes were typical of the frantic effort and hideous, worthless results of modern life. Contact with this life had deformed his soul, and he knew it. He had permitted the bobgoblin of wealth to frighten him away from the girl he loved, and now he had lost her. He beheld himself a coward, a weakling and a fool.

From these reflections he was summoned by a ring of the telephone bell. It was the voice of Rutherford that answered his bell.

"I say, old man, can't you reconsider?" said the voice. "I've just had Charlie Stuart on the phone, and he insists on your going along."

Baring declined to be persuaded, and as he spoke with his friend there came a note of hatred into his voice, and he recognized it with shame.

"Rutherford," said he by way of atonement, "I congratulate you in advance."

"Do—do you really think so?"

"Not a doubt of it," responded Baring, with a laugh that may have sounded all right at the other end of the wire. "Kneel and receive my blessing."

On Monday, about noon, Baring was seated again by the high window. There came a knock at the door, a pattering, rattling, crazy knock. Rutherford entered, his face drawn and old, his sun browned skin showing a yellowish pallor. Baring stared at him; no special skill was required to read that face.

"I'm going west this afternoon," said Rutherford. "Japan or thereabouts is my destination; it doesn't make much difference. I came back to town yesterday afternoon and spent all night packing up. Haven't touched a bed."

"Willis," said Baring, laying a hand upon his shoulder, "this simply can't be. I know—I tell you I know—she loves you."

"She not only does not love me," answered Rutherford, "she scorns me. Well, I've led rather a wild life, but you know me pretty well. Am I worse than most men?"

"No," answered Baring, "but heaven knows what some malicious gossip may have told Anna. And she's not lenient in her moral judgments, as you're well aware. But, man, don't go away without a struggle. Let me help you. If you have been black-guarded by some scandalmonger I can set you right. I owe it to our friendship."

"You are very kind," said Rutherford, "but there is not the slightest hope. I have no longer the slightest pretensions. The field is quite open to others."

"When do you go?"

"At 6 o'clock. Don't come to the station. I just want to sneak away alone. Goodbye."

Baring did not attempt to detain him; having resolved upon an immediate action. He went directly to the Clarendons, and Anna received him.

"Anna," said he, "Willis Rutherford is my closest friend, the friend of my childhood. He has come to me in trouble. I am here to clear his good name."

She studied his face for some seconds.

"Mr. Rutherford has confided in you," said she. "I do not question the propriety of his doing so. But will you answer me this: Why do you believe that my rejection of Mr. Rutherford had anything to do with his good name?"

"Because I think you care for him, Anna," said he. "Your heart did not speak truly to him."

"Have you read that in my face?" she asked.

"Yes," he answered.

"I beg of you to tell me when."

He told her the precise truth. It was a relief to him to confess his fault.

"At the moment when you observed me," said she—"for which act, by the way, you have my full forgiveness—I was not thinking especially of Mr. Rutherford. I had a very simple, pleasant, friendly thought in my mind. I had seen you and Mr. Rutherford standing at the head of the stairway. I had seen you go down with him. I supposed that you were on your way to the Stuarts' week end party, and I was glad to know that you were going. That is all."

"You were thinking of me?"

"Yes."

"But I saw in your face as clearly as ever mortal vision saw anything."

"Very well," she said as he paused, and suddenly the tears rushed into her eyes; "I don't deny it."

"Anna! You love me!"

"You great goose! You a reader of faces! You're a mere man, that's what you are. And you'll never get over being stupid, no matter how much you study. I read your face long ago."

"HAVE YOU READ THAT IN MY FACE?" SHE ASKED.

UNCONSCIOUS OF HIS PRESENCE, SHE PASSED HIM.

"I was watching her in that mirror. How the deuce does he do it? He's tried to show me, but I can't get the hang of it at all. But I believe he's taught her."

"Miss Clarendon?"

"Yes."

"What makes you think so?"

"Oh, I don't know. Sometimes she looks at me in a way that's like his."

"Baring doesn't come here very often," said I. "It is months since I've met him here."

"He comes occasionally," said Rutherford, with an uneasy manner that puzzled me.

Rutherford was supposed to be in love with Anna Clarendon. I had heard gossip about it several times since his return from abroad some months ago. Did he wish for Baring's power in order to read the girl's heart, or did he fear her for some secret of his own if Anna should be taught too well?

There was a general impression that Rutherford had sown a heavy crop of wild oats, but I knew nothing to his serious discredit, and the fact that Baring, who was the soul of honor, still remained his friend was excellent evidence in his favor. Suppose, how-
